

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a resistive touch-sensitive device for detecting a short-term or long-term dysfunction by means of measuring devices (32,33), a monitoring device (34) and a memory (35) in such a way that a timely signaling is carried out.